

I am commenting encourage you to keep net neutrality. Allowing companies to throttle down speeds based upon how much they are paid restricts net access and freedom of speech and the ability of people to collect different points of view.